

'X-RAY' FORTUNE IS CAUSE OF WOE

"Professor" Asks High Pay for Looking at Hand in Tin Box.

HITS THE TRUTH-SEEKER

LATTER LOSES FAITH AND RE-PORTS TO POLICE.

"Professor" Paul Flegel's startling discovery of "making palistry reading by means of the X-ray" landed him in jail yesterday afternoon. The charge of assault and battery was preferred against him and he will be arraigned before Judge Diehl this afternoon.

Charles Alankawice, a young foreigner seeking his fortune in the west, is the complaining witness. Assistant City Attorney P. J. Daly listened to his story and will endeavor today to connect Professor Flegel's right fist with Alankawice's injured anatomy (in evidence). Alankawice stood near the Dooly building yesterday afternoon when a sheet of paper was wafted by the breeze from the street and dropped close to his feet. He picked up the paper and read of the wonders of palistry. It introduced the new discovery made by "Professor" Flegel in reading the palms "by means of the X-ray." One reading, it was advertised, would put a person on the trail of his fortune. The discovery had set the world agog. "Professor" Flegel was "recognized as the foremost scientist in palistry of the day" and the circular was covered with testimonials. Each reading was advertised as costing $1.

Hand in Tin Box.

The mysterious mission of the wind to waft this circular to Alankawice's feet affected him. He studied the circular over again and again. He decided finally to have his palm read. It would cost him only $1 and he thought that the experience would be worth it. He went to "Professor" Flegel's apartments at 142 South Main street and asked for a reading.

The professor shoved his hand into a tin box, turned on a light, peeped through a hole in the "X-ray box" and commenced reading to him the lines in the science of palistry.

Dame Fortune smiled on Alankawice, according to the professor's reading. He possessed the ability of a financier and lawyer. His name had a place near the top of the ladder of railroad magnates. There was a mine, somewhere, that would fall into the hands of Alankawice which would pour forth untold millions.

Dispute Over Pay.

When the "professor" finished his reading after telling him how long he would live, how many times he would marry, etc., Alankawice had a higher opinion of himself and marveled at the professor's knowledge. Alankawice drew out his pocket book and dropped a silver dollar into the "professor's" hand. Flegel looked at it for a moment and, gazing straight into the eyes of Alankawice, shook his head.

"It costs $3 to have the wonderful X-ray reading performed," the "professor" said. Alankawice picked up a bill and showed him the price he advertised. Without further argument Flegel delivered a right punch on Alankawice's nose which flattened it. Alankawice claims that he was hit entirely too hard to remember just what happened until he struck the sidewalk.

After dusting his clothes Alankawice went to the police station, where he exhibited his injuries and told his story. He swore to the complaint charging Flegel with assault and battery. A warrant was issued and Flegel was arrested. Alankawice says he has no faith in palistry, and especially "X-ray readings."

COMES FROM SPENDING YEAR IN EUROPE AND PRAISES "SEE AMERICA" MOVEMENT

MRS. W. A. McENERY,

Dr. and Mrs. William A. McEnery and daughter Isabel arrived in Salt Lake from the east yesterday afternoon after a year's absence from Salt Lake and America. During this time they have visited England, France, Ireland, Germany, Switzerland and Belgium. Mrs. McEnery returns with enthusiasm for the "See America" movement. The trip was made on account of her health. She returned from abroad fully recovered. Mrs. McEnery was formerly Mrs. Henrietta McLaughlin, a life-time resident of Utah. Immediately upon their arrival in Salt Lake the party registered at the Knutsford, where apartments had been reserved. An impromptu reception followed in the rotunda of the hotel.

"My health has been benefited but I am glad to be back to the land of the free and the home of the brave," she said last evening. "Europe is interesting, but America is after all the one nation. We landed in New York early in the month and have been visiting relatives and friends in the east.

"I find Germany most interesting. On former trips the Fatherland had no attractions for me, but when I became acquainted with the people and the little inside things of the country, I commenced to place Germany above other foreign nations. The old estates, the big farms, vineyards and castle-like homes of the richer folk are entirely different from the imposing structures erected as homes for our people. The people are interesting.

"While away we received American papers with stories about a 'See America' movement which I believe was inaugurated in Salt Lake some time ago. The need of such a movement is something more than a fancy with any one who has traveled in other countries. I have often wondered just how much money was spent by Americans traveling through European countries.

"This was my first visit in quaint old Ireland and the traveler who visits Europe without going through the home of St. Patrick has missed the best part of his trip. I rode in jaunting cars, and each shaking made me more fond of the country. The Irish women are most beautiful. The most humble farmer girl has a perfect complexion, large innocent eyes and wealth of glossy hair. A noticeable feature, too, among the women of the well-to-do is the lack of artificiality. Their straightforwardness and sweetness is captivating.

"America, after all, is the greatest and most interesting country. Our hurry-scurryness, our wonder of the east and our beauties of the west, our government and our homes are the best. The person who sees America first will find Europe quaint but lacking the features one can see in America on all sides. I have been in Switzerland, but find greater beauty in the hills and valleys of the western America. I have stayed in the big cities of Europe, but find them slow and behind our big commercial centers. There is no country like America."

Dr. and Mrs. McEnery will remain in Salt Lake for ten days, and then go on to San Francisco to live.

WORK ON STRAWBERRY.

A shipment of supplies and equipment will leave Salt Lake in a few days.

He asserts that a few disgruntled Mexicans are responsible for the agitation, and they because they are jealous of the superior skill and ability of the Americans who hold the positions the Mexicans would like to have, with the accompanying salary. Remember, all these are not merely Discomforts, but indications of a serious Cause.

Nip them in the bud—eat a Candy Cascaret. Cascarets don't purge, nor punish the stomach like "Bile-driving" "Physics." They act like Exercise on the Bowels. Muscles that propel Food, and that squeeze the natural Digestive Juices of the body into Food.

Constipation	Bad Breath
Biliousness	Headache
Indigestion	Diarrhea
Dyspepsia	Flatulence
Torpid Liver	Furunculæ
Appendicitis	Nausea
Colic	Vertigo
Worms	Pimples
Piles	Blotches

In such cases a little Cascaret in time is worth fifty dollars worth of Treatment later on, to say nothing of the suffering, discomfort, loss of Business Energy, and loss of Social Sunshine it saves.

Headaches, Heartburn, Gas-belching, Acid-risings in the throat, and Colicky feeling are sure signs of bowel trouble from food poisons, and should be dealt with promptly.

One Cascaret will stop the coming trouble, and move on the Bowel load, if taken at the first signs.
